Visiting Lisbon

Highlights of Lisbon – in 50 minutes

We have only a short time for sightseeing during the busy conference days but if you have the opportunity to get around Lisbon the easiest option can be taking Tram 28 from one terminus to the other - saves you some walking and lets you see top sights - the trip takes about 50 minutes.

The number 28 tram is the longest route in Lisbon, performing a loop in the east of Baixa, Graça and Alfama before heading west to Estrela and Campo de Ourique. This first section is the favourite with most tourists, as the tram screeches through Alfama, passing the Sé Cathedral and the Santa Luzia viewpoint. The westward section is equally enjoyable and scenic, by passing through the Estrela district and terminating at the magnificent Estrela Basilica.

Not to miss – 3 hours in Lisbon

If your time is limited but you have half a day to see Lisbon here is a list, you shouldn't miss.

• Take a stroll in Alfama which is Lisbon's most emblematic quarter and one of the most rewarding for walkers and photographers thanks to its medieval alleys and outstanding views.

Because its foundation is dense bedrock, it survived the 1755 earthquake, and a walk through this old-fashioned residential neighbourhood is now a step back in time. It is a village within a city still made up of narrow streets, tiny squares, churches, and whitewashed houses with tile panels.

- Have a walk in the Baixa district which is the heart of Lisbon and was completely rebuilt after the devastating 1755 earthquake. The district comprises of magnificent plazas, which are connected by straight avenues lined with grand 18th-century architecture. When strolling on the streets of Baixa don't forget to see The Elevador Santa Justa and the ruins of Carmo church.
- From Baixa take the tram 15 to Belém which is synonymous with history and the Portuguese discoveries. It was from this historic location that the great adventurers set sail in their fragile caravels, on a mission to discover the world. The Mosteiro do Jerónimos (Jerónimos Monastery) and Torre de Belém (Belém Tower), both UNESCO World Heritage sites, are Manueline-style monuments, whose imposing architectural wealth transports us back to the heyday of the Portuguese Empire.

A day out in Lisbon

If you have a whole day to explore the city of Lisbon, head straight to the Belém district and go inside the Jeronimos Monastery's church and cloisters, and admire the Discoveries Monument and Belem Tower. Once you are in the Belém area don't miss to visit the world famous Antiga Confeitaria De Belem and taste the delicious custard tart called "Pastéis de Belém".

- Take tram 15 to Baixa (downtown), walk from Comercio Square through Rua Augusta to Rossio Square before heading to Alfama and St. George's Castle for the late-afternoon glow over the city.
- Have a dinner and experience the night life in Chiado & Bairro Alto.

Bohemian Lisbon

Bairro Alto is a picturesque working class quarter dating from the 16th century that has traditionally been the city's bohemian haunt of artists and writers.

Its grid of streets is quiet during the day, but is transformed at night into the city's vibrant nightlife quarter.

Behind colorful and graffiti-ridden façades is a variety of traditional and international restaurants, tourist-packed Fado Houses, and a multitude of bars and alternative shops that stay open until late at night.

Gastronomy

Gastronomy, wine, the simple act of sharing a meal or having a drink with friends are regular activities in Lisbon's daily routine.

Due to the city's proximity to the sea, the local gastronomy includes delicious fish and shellfish dishes, celebrated in the annual "Lisbon Fish Flavours" festival.

There are 1001 ways to prepare cod – all of them irresistible. In Lisbon, you'll also find the finest Mediterranean cuisine - including bread, olive oil, cheese, sausages and a wide variety of snacks.

In Lisbon, you'll find a wide variety of restaurants, ranging from traditional and typical taverns to sophisticated and international sites. Young and innovative chefs have reinvented Portuguese cuisine, with interesting and refined ways of preparing traditional Portuguese dishes. You'll also find amazing regional dishes in small taverns in Lisbon's charming old neighbourhoods - always in an extremely friendly environment. Whether you're looking for finesse, abundance, tradition or simplicity, Lisbon is the perfect place to have a meal.

The best way to take full advantage of the moment, is to combine your meal with Portuguese wines, from all regions and suited to all tastes. Due to the country's rich winemaking tradition, Portuguese people have the skill of choosing the right wine for the right dish. And to round off the rich and varied gastronomy, soak up the local atmosphere.

Discover cafés that serve as a meeting point and sample some of the excellent local sweets and pastries, including the famous custard tarts – "pastéis de Belém".
