[ˈstjuːˌʌnt]
[ˈpjuːpl]

Ever wondered what learners of English need to sound like in today's diverse world?

Join the second webinar in our Advancing Learning Webinar Series

Teaching English pronunciation for the real world

Date: Wednesday 7th November 2018

Time: 10 AM – 11 AM BST

4 PM – 5 PM BST

Check your local time:

Hosted by Laura Patsko, this webinar answers some very important questions: Who uses English today? Who is speaking and who is listening? What do learners of English need to sound like? Nowadays, the answer to all these questions is unlikely to be "native English speakers". Indeed, the vast majority of spoken interaction in English today involves no native speakers at all. How can we ensure everyone understands each other in such a diverse world? This webinar will consider some new pronunciation priorities and challenges for learners and teachers of English.

Laura Patsko is a language and pedagogy consultant training people around the world in the most effective ways of using, learning and teaching English for international contexts. She specialises in pronunciation and listening. Laura blogs at laurapatsko.wordpress.com and elfpron.wordpress.com, and tweets as @lauraahaha.
REGISTER NOW at macmillanenglish.com/webinars

AM session | PM session

Coming soon in the Advancing Learning Webinar Series:

Katie Harris
What learning 5 languages has taught me about ELT,
November 2018

Sarah Mercer
Strategies to promote and protect language teacher well-being,
December 2018

Matt Hayes
Global Citizenship,
January 2019

macmillan education